PGW Celebrates Minority Business Success With MED Week Program

PGW participated in the City's MED Week activities (Oct. 2-6) hosting a panel: "Overcoming Obstacles, Breaking Barriers and Achieving Success."

Panelists shared their journey in business and challenges they had to overcome. They also offered tips to inspire others.

Minority Enterprise Development Week (MED Week) is a national program aimed at equipping diverse minority-owned businesses with resources and connections to help them grow.

PGW SET TO ADVANCE HYDROGEN WITH FEDERAL GRANT

Last month, President Joe Biden and public officials from across Pennsylvania visited Philadelphia to announce the launch of $7 billion for America's first clean Hydrogen Hubs – seven were selected – delivering new economic opportunities and environmental benefits nationwide.

As part of the grant, PGW and the Philadelphia region will receive up to $750 million.

HOW IS PGW INVOLVED?

In 2022, PGW partnered with the City of Philadelphia, local unions, industry, educational institutions and organizations from PA, DE, and NJ to form the Mid-Atlantic Clean Hydrogen Hub (MACH2).

MACH2 applied for the Department of Energy's (DOE) highly competitive grant to help unlock hydrogen-driven decarbonization in the Mid-Atlantic while repurposing historic oil infrastructure and using existing rights-of-way.

It plans to develop renewable hydrogen production facilities from renewable and nuclear electricity using both established and innovative electrolyzer technologies, where it can help reduce costs and drive further technology adoption.
