CALL 8-1-1 BEFORE YOU DIG.

An underground utility line is damaged every six minutes nationwide as a result of not calling 811 before digging, according to data collected by Common Ground Alliance.

To reduce the risk of hitting an underground utility service line, PGW reminds home and business owners:

- Always call 811 at least 3 business days before you plan to dig. Calls can be made 24 hours a day.
- Confirm with your One Call Center that all utility lines have been marked.
- Don't begin any work if lines aren't marked.
- Once a site is accurately marked, you can begin to dig around the marked areas.

Calling 811 before you begin your project isn't just a good idea, it's the law.

One less worry can lead to... more time with those who matter.

SEASONAL SAVINGS

Spring means warmer weather, longer days, and new opportunities to save both energy and money in your home or office. Consider adding these ideas to your spring routine!

Let fresh air in – Open your windows. This creates a cross-breeze bringing a natural cool throughout your home without switching on your air conditioner.

Open the blinds – During the daytime, turn off any unnecessary lamps or lights and rely on the sunlight to heat and brighten the room.

Barbecue – Cooking outside on a grill eliminates excess heat in your home caused by ovens.

Caulk – Caulking is valuable during any season. Use it to close any air leaks and openings in your home to keep warm air outside.
